67th CONVENTION OPENS SEPT. 5 IN NEW ORLEANS

DPS 82089

NEW YORK (DPS, April 8) -- "There shall be a General Convention of the Church" which "shall meet not less than once in each three years," the Constitution of the Episcopal Church provides. That triennial event is scheduled to occur again Sept. 5-15, 1982 when the House of Deputies and the House of Bishops convene in New Orleans.

The Church's Convention -- its 67th -- will open formally with a eucharist on Sunday, Sept. 5, at 6:00 p.m., in the Rivergate convention center. The bishops and deputies will be joined by Episcopalians from the Diocese of Louisiana and other visitors, including the 450 women who will be in session concurrently as the Triennial Meeting of the Women of the Episcopal Church, and members of other Church organizations who will be in session.

The bicameral Convention is made up of the 904-member House of Deputies -- composed of four lay persons and four priests from each of the 113 jurisdictions -- and the House of Bishops which is composed of 264 members.

A part of the opening eucharist service will be the presentation of the United Thank Offering -- expected to be over $1 million -- which represents the gifts of the women of the Church for the futherance of the work of the Church in many areas. The funds are distributed as grants throughout the Anglican Communion.

Just prior to the opening worship service, the two Houses will convene separately for organizational purposes at 2:30 p.m. The deputies will meet at the Rivergate and the bishops will hold their sessions at the Hilton Hotel across the street.

For the next 10 days -- Sept. 6-1 -- the Convention will fall into a general pattern of early morning committee meetings followed by separate legislative sessions of the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies morning and afternoon, with open committee hearings on significant issues in the evening. Several joint sessions of the two Houses are proposed during the two weeks.

There does not appear to be any overriding issues facing the 1982 Convention, though a wide range of issues will probably come before the bishops and deputies. Of wide interest to Episcopalians is the revision of The Hymnal 1940. The Convention's Standing Commission on Church Music has spent the past few years preparing its recommendations concerning hymn texts which will be included in the revised book. If the Convention approves the report on texts -- it does not have to approve tunes -- the publication of the revised hymnal will be authorized. The Commission estimates that total production time will be three years from date of approval.

Growing out of the Lutheran-Episcopal Dialogue -- continuing from 1969 to 1980 -- are recommendations for action calling for closer relationships with each other. Involved in this mutual recognition of respective church bodies are the Episcopal Church, the Lutheran Church in America, the American Lutheran Church, and the Association of Evangelical Lutheran Churches.

Other issues and problems facing the bishops and deputies include evangelism, hunger and poverty, the arms race, injustice, human rights, housing, education, lay ministry, community outreach, church structure, clergy and lay deployment, the church in small communities, urban problems, and world mission. The Convention's boards and commissions will release their reports and recommendations in The Blue Book in June.

High among the proposals to be considered for approval is the General Budget of the Episcopal Church for the next triennium, 1983-1985. The Program, Budget and Finance Committee of the General Convention has asked for a joint session of the bishops and deputies for Saturday, Sept. 11 from 10:30 to 11:45 a.m., to make its presentation.

As required by canon, it is the Executive Council which proposes the triennial program and budget to the Convention, with the Joint Standing Committee on Program, Budget and Finance making its own recommendations at the Sept. 11 meeting.

The Executive Council will have the platform on Tuesday, Sept. 7, from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon to make its presentation, subject to the approval of the tentative agenda. The Council will recommend a detailed 1983 budget which will be used as a guideline for 1984 and 1985 budgets.

Some 450 delegates to the Triennial Meeting of the Women of the Episcopal Church will gather during part of the time the Convention is in session. The opening session will be Sunday, Sept. 5. There are some male delegates in the group.

The Triennial Meeting will close at noon on Tuesday, Sept. 14, following a Eucharist celebrated by Presiding Bishop John M. Allin.

Mrs. Betty Thomas Baker of Kansas is Presiding Officer of the women's meeting.

Allin is President of the House of Bishops and Dr. Charles R. Lawrence of Pomona, N.Y., is President of the House of Deputies. Vice Presidents of the two houses are the Rt. Rev. James W. Montgomery of Chicago and the Very Rev. David B. Collins of Atlanta. The Rev. James R. Gundrum is Executive Officer of the Convention.

Some 10,000 bishops, deputies, women delegates, press, exhibitors, guests, and visitors are expected to attend part or all of the 11-day Convention.

#82089/1 The Louisiana General Convention of the Episcopal Church will meet in New Orleans, Sept. 5-15, with a 6:00 p.m. eucharist at the Rivergate convention center on Sept. 5. This will be the 67th Convention which meets every three years as the highest legislative body in the 3 million-member Episcopal Church.

#82089/2 The 904-member House of Deputies of the bicameral General Convention of the Episcopal Church will hold its sessions in the Rivergate convention center (foreground), Sept. 5-15, while the 264-member House of Bishops will meet in the New Orleans Hilton Hotel (on the right in the background). The exhibitions will be displayed in the Rivergate and the 450 women who will be meeting concurrently for their triennial sessions will be in the Hilton.

#82089/3 The New Orleans Hilton Hotel (center) will be the site of the Sept. 5-15 sessions of the Episcopal Church House of Bishops, which, along with the House of Deputies, form the General Convention, the highest legislative body in the Church. At right is the International Trade Mart Tower and between the two tall buildings is the Rivergate convention center which will house the Deputies' sessions during the triennial Convention.

#82089/4 In a view from the roof of the Marriott Hotel can be seen the buildings that will be the sites of the triennial sessions of the General Convention of the Episcopal Church in New Orleans, Sept. 5-15. The low building in the center is the Rivergate convention center where the House of Deputies will meet. The tall building just to the left of center at the top is the Hilton Hotel, where the House of Bishops will meet. The International Trade Mart Tower is at the upper left. The International Hotel is in the right central section of the picture. The official hotels for housing the bishops, deputies, and other persons connected with the Convention are the Hilton, the Marriott, and the International. The Mississippi River is at the top of the picture and famous Canal Street can be seen in the lower part of the scene.

#82089/5 The Rev. Canon James R. Gundrum is Executive Officer of the General Convention of the Episcopal Church and in that post, he coordinates the administrative functions of Convention. A native of Iowa, Gundrum is also Secretary and Registrar of Convention -- with responsibility for the journals and registries -- and Secretary of the House of Deputies and Secretary of the Executive Council.

#82089/6 President of the House of Deputies of the General Convention of the Episcopal Church is Dr. Charles R. Lawrence who lives in Pomona, N.Y. He presided over the 1979 Convention following his election to the post in 1976. He is only the third lay person -- and the first black -- in the Church's history to serve as presiding officer of the 904-member House of clerical and lay Deputies. In 1977 he retired as professor of sociology at Brooklyn College of the City University of New York. He is also vice chairman of the 44-member Executive Council.

WOMEN'S TRIENNIAL TO CONVENE
IN NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 5-14

DPS 82090

By Salome Breck

Editor of The Colorado Episcopalian

NEW YORK (DPS, April 8) -- When the 37th Triennial Meeting of the women of the Episcopal Church meets in New Orleans, Sept. 5-14, it will bring together 450 women from almost all major areas of the world, representatives from all Episcopal women's organizations, and numbers of women from other denominations and communions. It will be inclusive and ecumenical.

Though not a part of General Convention, the Triennial is planned to meet concurrently with the Convention of the Church.

The Triennial organization, which began life as a part of mission thrust, this year adds special emphasis to that theme. Triennial's "Go Forth into the World" in Mission is well represented in the logo -- the great circle which represents the love of God and the three interlocking circles which signify spirit and worship, mind and education, body and enrichment.

Carried out in carefully constructed detail for the 10-day session is the over-all Triennial program which deals with spiritual growth, the family and the environment.

Registration by the women will be followed by the traditional opening service of General Convention at 6 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 5, which members of the Triennial will join and includes the United Thank Offering presentation.

This offering is practically as old as the Church's first organization for women. It came about when members realized the need to raise money for mission.

Four nationally known men and women will present the major Triennial talks and workshops. Leadership skills training sessions will deal with the subjects of "Team Building in Church Groups", "Using Conflict Situations Productively," "The Art and Science of Group Decision-Making," and "Skills for Ministry Training." Here those involved in United Thank Offering, world mission projects who work with the Hispanic community, changing lifestyles, networking, dealing with power structures, family, women and alcoholism, and spiritual growth, may find much information.

Representatives from the women's organization of the Church will speak. Elections will take place, members of Triennial will join deputies and bishops from General Convention for several sessions, and the meeting will close with Presiding Bishop John M. Allin celebrating the eucharist.

Presiding will be Betty Thomas Baker, Triennial's Presiding Officer. Born in Detroit and a long-time resident of Kansas, she is a communicant of St. Michael and All Angels in Shawnee Mission, Kans. Her husband is William Baker, a Province VII representative to Executive Council, and a member of its communication committee.

The subject of spiritual growth will be dealt with by the Rev. Dr. Tilden H. Edwards Jr., Episcopal priest, executive director of Shalem Institute for Spiritual Formation, and Advisory Council member of the College of Preachers at Washington Cathedral. His background is Harvard Divinity School, Episcopal Theological School and Union Graduate School. With changes within and without the Church, discussion will center on renewal and the need for centering one's life.

The family will be the subject for Triennial's second speaker, the Rev. Dr. John H. Westerhoff III. He too is an Episcopal priest, and a Professor of Practical Theology at Duke University Divinity School. His graduate degrees in theology and anthropology are from Harvard and Columbia universities, and he has taught at Harvard, Fordham, Boston College, the University of the South, Princeton and Union Theological Seminary.

The interaction group on family will be led by Dr. Margaret Lawrence, who is Associate Clinical Professor of Psychiatry, Columbia University, and Supervising Child Psychiatrist, Harlem Hospital Center, New York City. She was the recipient of the Joseph R. Bernstein Mental Health Award in 1975. She is a member of the board of trustees for Seabury Press, and her publications include much on the family. The wife of Dr. Charles R. Lawrence, President of the General Convention's House of Deputies, she is widely known as a speaker on family and psychological subjects.

The fourth speaker is the Very Rev. Herbert O'Driscoll, dean of Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver, B.C. His Doctor of Divinity degree is from Vancouver School of Theology. He attended St. Luke's Parish School, Middleton College, University of Trinity College, Dublin, and was chaplain for the Royal Canadian Navy. His consideration of the subject of environment will encompass Christian stewardship of the resources of the earth.

WCC PRESIDENTS ISSUE
1982 PENTECOST MESSAGE

DPS 82091

NEW YORK (DPS, April 8) -- The six presidents of the World Council of Churches have called on members of that fellowship to "joyously witness to Jesus Christ" as they observe the feast of Pentecost which celebrates the coming and power of the Holy Spirit.

Pentecost is May 30 this year in most churches -- including the Episcopal Church -- though Eastern Orthodox churches observe the day on June 6.

"Each time we celebrate this feast," the statement says, "we are reminded of the fact that our churches owe their very existence to the Holy Spirit," according to the record in Acts 2. "However rich or poor, strong or weak they may be, all churches have the source of their life in the Spirit of God who is at work among us."

Noting that the record in Acts 2 indicates that the gift of the Spirit was bestowed when "they were all together in one place," the Council leaders point out that this coming together in unity is what the ecumenical movement is all about.

They note further that after the gift of the Spirit was bestowed and received, the disciples left the upper room to go out into the streets to preach the Good News. "When God sent the Holy Spirit to dwell among His people, He placed in our hands the task of spreading the Good News of the life, death and resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ to all the world. It is clear that the disciples did not select certain kinds of people, or place any restrictions on who might hear the Good News. They did not require those who heard the message to be of a particular race or sex or age or nationality. They preached to all, and received all in the same way. Men and women of all cultures and of all human conditions heard their words as Good News for themselves."

An essential part of the Gospel itself is "this breaking down of the barriers that so often separate people," the statement says. "Conversion is never merely a religious experience, it is the way in which we become members of that new community where people find their identity in Christ rather than in race, social status or sex. Authentic Christian unity is the fruit of such conversion, the turning of hearts and lives towards God and towards those from whom we are separated."

The six World Council of Churches' presidents are Ilia II, catholicos and patriarch of all Georgia, USSR, Eastern Orthodox; A.R. Jiage, appeals court judge, Reformed, Ghana; Jose Miguez-Bonino, theologian, Union Theological Seminary, Buenos Aires, Methodist; T.B. Simatupang, president, Indonesian Council of Churches, Reformed; Olof Sundby, archbishop of Uppsala, Sweden, Lutheran; and Cynthia Wedel, psychologist and educator, U.S. Episcopal. Honorary president is W.A. Visser 't Hooft, who retired at the end of 1966 as the first WCC general secretary.
